Angelo "Bosco" Condie '61 (1939-1994)

A native of Cortland, N.Y., Angelo Condie was a standout basketball player at Cortland High who became the first SUNY Cortland basketball player to score more than 1,000 career points and the first to score 40 points in a game.

Condie played on the Red Dragons' 1959 and 1961 SUNYAC championship teams. He was named to the All-SUNYAC

Tournament teams in 1960 and 1961 and was voted the Tournament MVP as a senior.

His 1,093 career points places ninth on Cortland's all-time scoring list. He scored 432 points as a senior which is still among the top single season efforts at the College.

He earned a B.S.E.

in 1961 and an M.S.E. in 1965 from SUNY Cortland. Between 1964-93, he served as an elementary school principal for the Department of Defense Schools in Germany, Japan and Okinawa. Condie was a member of the National Elementary School Principals Association and of Phi Delta Kappa. He was active with Scouts and with church groups.

Condie died at age 54 on March 6, 1994 after a long bout with cancer.

"He was the kind of young man you would like to have as your son," said longtime SUNY Cortland head basketball coach Whitney T. "Pete" Corey '43. "If I were to select an all-star team from the many players who played for me, he would be among the first five."

Condie is survived by his wife, Leigh.

State University of New York College at Cortland

Located atop one of the rolling hills in central New York's "City of Seven Valleys," the State University of New York College at Cortland was founded in 1868 as the Cortland Normal School, whose earliest students included inventor and industrialist Elmer A. Sperry of Sperry-Rand Corp. fame.

Over the decades, the campus expanded and in 1941, by an act of Legislature and the Board of Regents, the institution officially became a four-year college providing courses leading to the bachelor's degree. In 1948, Cortland was a founding member of State University of New York.

Today, more than 5,100 undergraduate and 1,200 graduate students are pursuing degrees within the College's two academic divisions – Arts and Sciences and Professional Studies. Twenty-three departments with a faculty of more than 300 offer the SUNYCortland student body some 100 programs from which to choose.

The College's main campus covers 191 acres and includes 30 major buildings. Fourteen of these structures are residence halls providing on-campus housing for 2,600 students. Cortland also operates its Outdoor Education Center at Raquette Lake in the Adirondacks, the Hoxie Gorge Nature Preserve outside Cortland, and the Brauer Memorial Geological Field Station near Albany on the Helderberg Escarpment.

At Cortland, athletics are viewed as having an important role in the educational mission of the College. During the fall, winter and spring seasons, Cortland participates in 24 intercollegiate sports – 13 women's and 11 men's – in an attempt to provide a broad program which meets the needs, interests and abilities of its students.

The College offers its student athletes excellent athletic facilities. The Bessie L. Park '01 Center for Physical Education and Recreation, opened in 1973, features a main gymnasium with seating for 3,600; an Olympic-sized swimming pool with gallery seating for 1,500; Alumni Arena which can accommodate 2,500 spectators for ice hockey; racquetball and squash courts, a wrestling room, modern athletic training facilities and the state-of-the-art Francis Woods '56 Fitness Center.

Nearby Lusk Field House, with its tartan-textured surface, is home for the indoor track teams, varsity practice sessions and recreational activities. The Red Dragon football and lacrosse squads compete on Davis Field with its 5,000 seating capacity. Cortland soccer teams play on Holloway Field, which has lights for night contests. The College also has 50 acres of athletic fields and 24 outdoor tennis courts.
