If any pictures arrive after this catalog goes to print they will be properly labelled to allow the visitors to the gallery the greatest ease in gazing upon their loveliness.

Three posters that have been on exhibition during the past week will be auctioned off this evening. These posters are of unusual merit being the work of Miss Pauline Long, a young artist in Syracuse University, who was awarded the first Poster Prize by the University in this year's contest. It is hoped the guests will show their appreciation.

Among the attractions of the evening will be Madam Antonio Seidelio with her world famous orchestra.

The Palm Garden of the Waldorf-Asterbiltia will be open during the entire evening when the guests may procure sumptuous repasts with excellent service at very small cost.

Ziegerella, the noted Gypsy Queen, has spread her tent under the shade of the palms and will tell fortunes by the palm and tea if her hand is properly crossed.

The most wonderful menagerie ever seen in Cortland has been procured for this evening only. The rarest animals ever known to man are in this mammoth collection. Be sure to see this. The camel is one endowed with almost human intelligence.

The price of admission to the various side shows is very reasonable and is posted at the entrances in full view.

Be sure to see the Snake Charmer with her five huge Boa Constrictors.

Side Talks With Young People.

BY HELEN ASTORBILT.

“Grif:” It was certainly rude of the young people to laugh, but it might be well to learn a new march, occasionally. I would suggest “A Hot Time.”

M-d H-w-s: The Finch is a shy bird but doubtless your method will succeed in taming him.

“Tom” C—: It is hardly probable that the young lady did put alcohol in the fudge, but you were perfectly right in refusing to eat it, if you were suspicious.

Anxious Reader: I know of but one way to remove the goo-goo from your eyes. Have an operation at once.

Thomas I. W—: I would not advise you to wear side-burns.

Miss Z—man: I do not think Schneider is an ugly name. It was the name of Rip Van Winkle's dog.

Roy L—: You are evidently suffering from Miss Place(d) affections. A trip on the electric cars will probably restore you, as nothing else will be fast enough.

McGraw, N. Y.: Always insist on having green lights used in the fifth act. They are vastly becoming to lovers and a sure cure for stage fright.

G— L—n—d : Plenty of exercise will reduce that "too-too solid flesh." Go down to meet the 11:48 train once a week and you will soon notice a marked improvement. Take things calmly. Don't lose your temper.

Brown Braids : I would not advise you to go into the fountain pen deal. There is said to be Crook-ed work somewhere.

H—y Ett—g : Do not be discouraged. "'Tis better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all."

C. C. D. B. : If the attentions of the young ladies worry you, it would be better to inform them of the fact in a gentlemanly manner, than to allow them to go on hoping.

Librarian : The song you refer to is "He Laid Away a Suit of Gray, to Wear the Union Blue." No doubt it would be a pleasing selection on a phonograph.

Willie Thayer : See answer to G— L—n—d elsewhere in these columns. For that tired feeling, mix equal quantities of ginger and essence of ambition and take a teaspoonful when you feel an attack coming on.

Bessie D— : You were right in your supposition ; Bartholomew was one of the Disciples, but we have no proof that his first name was Walter.

Jamie C— : You are evidently a wise young man. One certainly saves the middleman's profit by getting goods direct from the Mills.

"Gus" : No. It is not considered good form to leave your suit case on the train. In the case you mention, it must have been a provincialism. There are other ways of showing your natural unselfishness.
